Local Transportation Information

Air Travel
Taiwan is located at the crossroads of some of Asia’s busiest air routes, travel to and from the island is easy and convenient. The island has two international airports: the Taoyuan International Airport (TIA) (formally known as CKS International Airport) in the north and the smaller Kaohsiung International Airport (KIA) in the south. They are served by over 56 airlines from Asia, Europe, and North America. There are limited regular connections between Taipei and Kaohsiung. Alternatively, high speed rail system is a convenient way to travel between Taoyuan and Kaohsiung. We kindly suggest you to make your destination to Kaohsiung International Airport (KIA) for your own convenience of traveling to the conference site.

(For information on Taiwan International Airport arrival and departure schedules, please visit the TIA website: http://www.taoyuanairport.gov.tw/ and KIA website: http://www.kia.gov.tw/.)

Taiwan High Speed Rail (THSR)
The newly completed modern Taiwan High Speed Rail (THSR) provides a fast, safe, and comfortable method of traveling along the west coast of Taiwan. It is a bullet train based on Japanese Shinkansen technology that covers the 345km route on the West Coast from Taipei to Kaohsiung (Zuoying) in 90-120 minutes. Participants whose arrival destination is Taiwan Taoyuan International Airport (TIA) are highly recommended to take the THSR to Zuoying Station in order to reach the venue. The cost of one-way ticket is NT$1,330 (approximately US$ 40).

(For information on Taiwan High Speed Rail (THSR), please visit the THSR website: http://www.thsrc.com.tw/.)
